

Church of South India response to COVID 19! Update 2

The vibrancy and the life of Church of South India can be traced in the grassroot congregations in the Dioceses of CSI. Congregations have become missional in their attitude and actions by its witness and service especially to the vulnerable and the marginalised at the wake of COVID 19 and unprecedented lockdown. The values of this holy season of lent which always implores us to give to the needy, share and sacrifice is enlivened by the Church at large beginning from the grassroots.

The crucified Christ demands our attention to the crucified people in our times today. There are many who are becoming victims of injustice and oppression in various forms. There are many who are crucified in the name of caste, religion, gender and ethnicity... the prime demand on us is that we take them down from the cross, liberate them from injustice and restore dignity to their broken lives.

The spread of the COVID 19 pandemic, the growing numbers of those who are infected, and the daily death toll, has fallen on an unprepared society, highlighting the spiritual emptiness of many people. On the other hand, this situation has crucified many people especially the migrants, the poor, the daily wage workers and many others for whom social distancing is not an option at all, for whom the next meal in itself is a great challenge, for whom a life of dignity and respect is a far distant reality... the crucified Christ calls us to respond to the plights and suffering of the many crucified around us.

Indian health officials have confirmed more than 10,900 cases of the coronavirus, including at least 368 deaths as on 14th April 2020. The lockdown of almost a month adds more strain on the social, economic and medical streams of life. The analysis of heading towards an economic crisis will add more plight on the suffering masses as many will also lose jobs due to the impact of COVID 19. The situation is worst for the poor, the homeless, the tribal, the Dalit's and religious minority groups whose life, even in normal times, is difficult, many migrant workers have been blocked in their workplaces. There is no transport, no wages to buy food and no shelter. People have been told to stay indoors, but for many daily-wage earners this is not an option as some of them, especially children, are left without food as people live day-to-day and have been adversely affected by the nationwide quarantine.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi addressed the nation at 10 a.m. on Tuesday 14th April, the last day of the 21-day lockdown. He announced that the lockdown has been extended till May 3 and will be imposed even more strictly.

He congratulated people for the efforts taken in terms of social distancing and commended the work of health officials, police department and others involved in risking their own lives.

PM Modi underlines 7 steps to be followed.

- 1) Take proper care of the senior citizens of your house, especially those with underlying problems.
- 2) Lockdown and social distancing should be properly followed. Home-made face covers and masks should be used.
- 3) Increase your immunity by following directions given by Ayush Ministry.
- 4) To help curb coronavirus spread, download Aarogya Setu application.
- 5) Wherever possible, help poor families.
- 6) In your businesses, help your co-workers, don't downsize people.
- 7) Coronavirus 'soldiers' -- doctors, nurses, sanitation workers -- respect them.

CSI Interventions:

Most Rev. Dharmaraj Rasalam, Moderator, Church of South India message at the backdrop of COVID 19.

The Moderator of CSI has been encouraging the Dioceses and people of CSI through his messages on the social media. He has pointed out the responsibility of the church during this lockdown and COVID 19 pandemic is greater than any other time as the church is required to respond to an unprepared situation at hand. We present here a short summary of his message.

“We need to be careful not only for our safety but also for the safety of others. But on the other hand we should not forget that as a church we have a role to play to bring hope to the world that is geographically physically emotionally socially and economically locked down like Elijah who during that great famine became a source of hope to that widow and son who have decided to die after their last meal prepared with a handful of flour in a jar and a little olive oil in their jug. Elijah who himself was facing uncertainty in his life had come to a place where he meets two other people who also were living in uncertainty.

In those times it is not very difficult for us to share what we have with those who are in need but what about when we ourselves face the same challenges. This passage teaches us even when we think our resources are drying up even when our logics fail and even when we stand equally challenged by the remnants of life. If we trust in god he can use us to become a source of hope to others.

However Jesus gives us hope beyond pain and that beyond grave and tomb and beyond fear and hopelessness. Putting our faith in our lord who selected from the dead who conquered sin and that let us resolve to share that joy of hope and life bringing the celebration to many among and around us.

Therefore my beloved be steadfast immovable always excelling in the work of the Lord. Because you know that your labour in the lord is not in vain (1 Corinthians 15:58).

CSI SEVA diaconal wing of Church of South India as soon as the outbreak of the coronavirus epidemic was announced, started a series of actions, for example, we instructed all Diocese to get support from Pastors, members, Volunteers & Health Workers for their personal protection, and fulfilling the mission of the Church to support the prevention and control of the epidemic in their Diocese.

1. Taking stock & need assessment of the situation in the Dioceses.
2. Coordinating relief work for the marginalized based on request from other organizations like December 3 movement & NCCI.
3. Connecting with Global church to study the impact of Covid19 in own respective countries and the life of the church.
4. Picking up good practices from other and sharing of resources.
5. Planning & coordinating with the government authorities and learning the need of the government sector in combating this COVID- 19
6. Planning for strategic interventions in the near future.

Relief Work:

Church along with the community helps in reaching out to feed the hungry and to shelter the homeless including Dalit and Tribal, migrants of every caste and creed, labours, daily wage workers, transgender, poor, children homes and those who are in need and provide medical care to the most vulnerable during the crisis. Christian community in South India also takes on the responsibility of guiding the nation in hope and spiritual strength in the fight against the threats of covid-19. The coincidence of this crisis with the Lent season is an opportunity to unite forces with the authorities in this common struggle”. Alongside our prayers, there is a commitment to be promoters of hope and to alleviate the suffering that surrounds us, both for material and psychological needs.

Many members, medical workers, pastors and Bishops of various Dioceses have “taken care” of the poor and needy in their Dioceses young people contact the elderly and people who need help, near their homes, helping them to get the necessary food and materials. Numerous institutions such as schools, colleges, hostels, seminaries and churches in various dioceses are making the premises available as places of refuge for migrant workers or people in need, while all Christian hospitals and clinics are already offering a valuable contribution in the care of the sick. Some Christian communities and associations intend to prepare food and pack it in disposable containers, distributing it to the homeless or needy people.

“We offer our institutions especially hospitals and nutrition centres to be used as isolation centres if our members own hotels can be encouraged them to provide their hotels for the same. Remember that these infrastructures have well equipped kitchens washrooms toilets laundries etc. hence might be very useful for the authorities to convert them as isolation centres’ says Most Rev. Dharmaraj Rasalam, the Moderator of the Church of South India.

CSI Christ Church Washermenpet Chennai-21 Distribute Groceries to the 20 Families of Physically Challenged, A movement called December 3.

All this campaign has been a big blessing for them because they have no money in the hand: They live a life of hand to mouth. This campaign will go on as long as the lockdown continues.

Finally, “the lockdown can also be a blessed moment for families, to strengthen the human and spiritual bond within each family”, it says. “We welcome this time as a gift from God in the awareness that even if the building of worship is closed, the Church can never be closed: wherever we are, we are the Church of God”,
