

Vocations

encouraging and enabling

Vocational discernment and recognition of people's gifts and God's calling is not an individual activity, but part of the whole Church's journey.

Pray for someone who is yet to discover how they might use their gifts for God.

Speak to someone to affirm the things they do well and how God is using their gifts.

Help someone discover the different ways the Church might enable them to use their gifts.

Thank someone for a gift or skill they might not have realised that God is using.

Develop ways as a church community to celebrate the different gifts of people.

Talk to someone about what they believe God is calling them to be.
